

Dear Padmini

I guess I should send the few words to you, is that right? Here goes:

In July 2015 I had the pleasure of meeting Padmini, who runs an exciting puppet theatre company in Hyderabad. Padmini was a social worker before she worked with puppets and now focuses on educating young people and their families about critical social concerns such as the position of women, hygiene, education and so on. It's really important work and she's completely dedicated to it.

Padmini, I've been quite busy since I got back but do let's keep in touch. It works be great to think of some kind of collaboration.

In friendship

Cariad

Cariad Astles

Director of CROPP – the Centre for Research into Objects and Puppets in Performance & Associate Lecturer (E&S)
The University of Exeter
Mail Room, The Old Library
Prince of Wales Road
Exeter, Devon UK
EX4 4SB
London, UK
8/19/15

cariadastles@gmail.com